Rubber tracks you can rely on

Astrak's range of industry leading rubber tracks are ideal for robotic demolition machinery. With numerous features and innovations that should ensure they never let you down.

More and more operators know when the going gets tough, you need Astrak rubber tracks on your machine.

A comprehensive range

With sizes ranging from 180mm to 800mm wide you'll find rubber tracks to fit not only demolition robots but around 4000 models of excavators, skid-steer loaders, powered tracked barrow, tracked dumpers, tracked access platforms and other tracked equipment.

Astrak can guarantee stock availability on virtually any machine.

High quality

When you buy our rubber tracks, you buy quality; our continuously wound inner cords with no joins are stronger, our short pitch core bars reduce vibration and wear and tear and our hi-tech rubber compounds are tougher.

You also buy peace of mind; years of experience ensures that we supply the correct track every time and our same day despatch service ensures that your machine is working again with minimal downtime.
